Dear Mr. Bliss,

I now take pleasure in herewith handing you a copy of the formal agreement between your firm and Mr. S.R. Crockett covering the publication of "Lad's Love". I think you will find the clauses of the agreement to be correct and in order, and if so, I shall be glad to have you sign and return it at your early convenience, when I will at once send you a duplicate copy completed by Mr. S.R. Crockett.

Kindly note that in accordance with our conversation of the 22nd inst. the words in the first clause "a new collection of stories the general title of which is at present "Lad's Love" should read, "a new novel at present entitled "Lad's Love".

I am,

Yours very sincerely,

A.S. Watt

Agreement enclosed
