Dear Dr Lawson,

I am obliged to you for your delightful reminiscences of Dr Wallace. They are charmingly and genially done, and have pleased me much. You will not be surprised that I read them through at a sitting.

The picture of the class is very interesting. I knew poor Imrie slightly. He was a clever man and well liked in some ways, but did not gain respect, owing to several unfortunate occurrences.

With kind regards and many thanks,

Faithfully yours,

S.R.Crockett
