S. R. CROCKETT'S NEW STORY, THE RAIDERS:

BEING SOME PASSAGES IN THE LIFE OF JOHN FAA, LORD AND EARL OF LITTLE EGYPT.

BY

S. R. CROCKETT,

Author of 'The STICKIT MINISTER,' &c.

Large crown 8vo. cloth, gilt top, 6s.

. The First Large Edition having been exhausted on the day of publication, a Second Edition has been prepared.

"The new Barrie of yesterday is to-day a second Stevenson—and no bad second, let us make haste to add..... Mr. Crockett writes exceedingly well—crisply, vividly, and above all readably. His Scotch is delightful and frequent, though somewhat capriciously distributed parenthetical translations smooth the thistly path for the Southerner. He has a keen sense of humorous character."

Daily Chronicle.

"It is safe to say that this tale of the Galloway of the early part of last century will bring Mr. Crockett at a bound into the front rank of those writers of the day who may be said to have founded among them a new school of Scottish romance. 'The Raiders' is alive and throbbing with the Gallowegian spirit; the strong and wholesome air of the hills and seas of the Stewartry blows through it."—Scotsman.

"The book has merits: merits of humour, character, description, dialects."—National Observer.

"Mr. Crockett has written a very able, original, and stirring Scots romance."—Glasgow Herald.

"The wild Solway smugglers, already famous in fiction, live again in Mr. Crockett's pages, the hillmen and gypsies rob and reive, the law-abiding citizens hunt them down, and there is a rapid succession of stirring adventures on sea and land. The reading public will undoubtedly seize upon 'The Raiders' and devour it eagerly. Nothing so tempting has been provided for some time."

Dundee Advertiser.

"Mr. Crockett can write admirably; and indeed his book as a whole is excellently well written."—British Weekly.

"The Earl of Little Egypt is a singular figure, well conceived and powerfully drawn. But the charm of the book is in the sense with which its every part is suffused, of the free life of the open country, of sea and moor and mountains, and of the strong human characters which that life produces—a sense which makes the town-bound citizen long to find himself amid these scenes, and to fill his lungs with the breezes which blow there."—Christian World.
